What is Gamescom?

Gamescom is one of the largest international trade fairs for the video game industry. It has been held since 2009 in Cologne, Germany. Every year, the event attracts hundreds of thousands of people—game enthusiasts, journalists, producers, publishers, and all those who want to actively participate in the industry's activities. The entire event consists of numerous exhibition booths, presentations of new games, esports tournaments, concerts, panel discussions, competitions, and many other attractions. It is one of the places where you can see the latest titles before their release and try out games from around the world. The event runs from August 21 to 25. The New Technology Division will have its booth in Hall 10.1, open throughout the event. We warmly invite you!

Gamescom 2024 with the Participation of the Institute of National Remembrance's New Technology Division

Gamescom is a great opportunity for publishers to showcase their projects and for journalists to gather material for publications. Additionally, it is an opportunity to increase the recognition of games among the international gaming community and establish new industry connections. One of the most promising ways to reach a wide spectrum of players in a short time is to be present at events like Gamescom. This allows reaching audiences worldwide with a historical message and provides an opportunity to build historical awareness through attractive and engaging forms. The Institute of National Remembrance's New Technology Division uses events like Gamescom because such fairs are the perfect place to showcase modern forms of education and gather feedback from a wide audience. This year, we warmly invite you to our booth in Hall 10.1! Come and Play "Aviators" at Gamescom
