Successful inauguration of IPN Publishing Days

On August 10th, from 11 a.m., we began celebrating IPN Publishing Days. Editor Rafał Dudkiewicz hosted meetings with authors of the publications, and we also welcomed representatives from the IPN Archives, illustrators, and the most important guests of the event – readers and participants. Additionally, everyone who made purchases of at least 50 PLN could participate in a prize wheel, where we raffled attractive prizes. There were also attractions for the youngest visitors. For them, we prepared patriotic coloring books based on IPN comics. In the New Technology Zone, participants could engage in all the projects of the New Technology Division, test their knowledge in history quizzes based on these projects, and experience how effective modern, immersive historical education can be.

Grand inauguration of IPN Publishing Days across Poland

Special stands with commemorative materials, workshops, tours, field games, and much more. The celebration covered the whole of Poland – from Poznań and Szczecin, through Warsaw and Białystok, to Rzeszów, Kraków, and Wrocław. It’s hard to count how many guests participated in the celebrations altogether.
